

DAY 4 | May 4, 2020

Scripture

“May the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart be pleasing in your sight, Lord...” — PSALM 19:14

Inspiration

The words we say and the attitude we bring says a lot about who we are and how we approach different circumstances. God blesses us with the opportunity to serve one another through connecting — reaching out and just having “fellowship.” The opportunity to just talk, reconnect and be real with one another is a blessing in all this “pandemic” mess. God desires that we would support one another and be there for each other. That’s why our words matter, and words come from our heart. That’s why today’s blessing is important and personal!

Prayer

GRACIOUS GOD, In the midst of this pandemic, this mess, you provide us the opportunity to connect on a very real level with people — with colleagues, coworkers, family and friends — in a way that in “normal” times would not be the focus. Thank you for that blessing — the blessing of fellowship, of being real and of being present. We’re grateful that through this, you continue to provide our every need, offering strength and hope when our strength is gone. Be with us, protect us, and help us to be your Hope in this challenging time! AMEN.

Real Blessings

“I’ve had opportunity to call the people I would normally interact with just to chat. Now, those conversations feel more personal and genuine. The casual conversations of the past are over, and they are deeper and more personal than ever.”
